

Dr. Kerry Ryan '06 (Environmental & Forest Biology)

Attending Veterinarian, ViaGen Pets

Dr. Kerry Ryan earned her Bachelors of Science from ESF in 2006. Following her time at ESF, she received a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree from Cornell University. Dr. Ryan then worked as a small animal veterinarian for 6 years, helping many clients and their beloved pets. Dr. Ryan is now the attending veterinarian at ViaGen Pets; ViaGen Pets is the worldwide leader in pet and endangered species cloning. Yes, you read that right, the team clones dogs, cats, horses and endangered species using the same technology that allowed scientists to clone Dolly, the famous sheep in 1996. This unique role has afforded Dr. Ryan the ability to use developments in science to foster her passions for enhancing the human animal bond and supporting conservation efforts. Dr. Ryan lives outside Rochester, NY with her husband, two sweet Cavalier King Charles Spaniels and a troublemaking kitty. Outside of work, Dr. Ryan enjoys hiking with her dogs and gardening to produce a renowned homegrown and homemade salsa.
